

Linguistic Support for Export Activities

An innovative Master's degree program

Linguistic Support for Export Activities is the first Master's degree program in Russia that trains communication experts and consultants for international trade and export activities.

The program offers:

All courses taught fully in English

Orientation to the global labor market

Modern teaching technologies focused on developing soft skills

Professionally-oriented training in two foreign languages

For more information, please visit LUNN's official website or use this QR code